ZEN Software Maintenance Agreement

ZEISS Software Services

Keep your instrument safe, stable and compatible through regular software upgrades and benefit from continuous ZEN software development.

Experience the latest software features and functionality with the new ZEN software, now available with Software Maintenance Agreement (SMA). Get access to the newest tools as soon as they are released, ensuring that you always have the latest and greatest software at your fingertips.

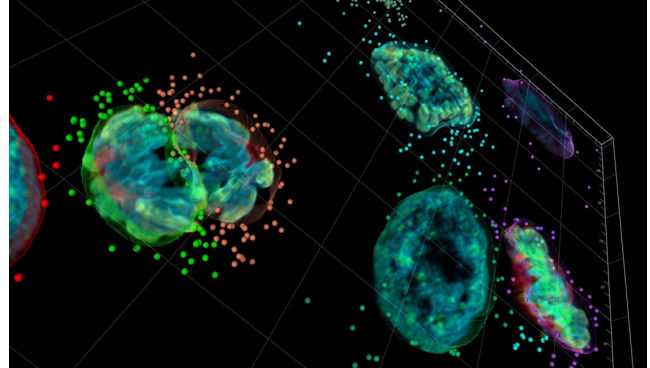

Our ZEN installations covered by an SMA will remain compatible with new ZEN hardware and workstations, allowing frictionless data exchange and interconnectivity, while substantially reducing future upgrade costs. With uncompromised compatibility, you can rest assured that your ZEN software will always work seamlessly with your other instruments.

Simpler usage and support are just two of the benefits of having all ZEN installations on the latest software version. It makes it easier for a user to move between different instruments and reduces user training and support needs saving you time.

Furthermore, only up-to-date software is safe from exploits and vulnerabilities, and an SMA prevents costly upgrades required to keep the instrument connected to your organization's network.

At ZEISS, we strive to support our products throughout their lifecycle. However, supporting old software products is not always possible. With SMA you always have the most recent version released, ensuring the best support.

Don't strain your budget with costly upgrades. A ZEN SMA costs around 3-4x less per year than a single upgrade. If an upgrade is likely to be required in the next 4 years, it is more affordable to cover it with an SMA from the first day than to purchase a one-time upgrade when required.
